

Directory Data

Schools and school districts receiving funds under any NCLB Title program must, upon request, provide student directory data (names, addresses, telephone numbers) to institutions of higher education. In addition, districts must provide this information, as well as student email addresses to military recruiters. School districts must notify parents of their right to request that this information be withheld from disclosure, and districts must comply with such requests.